

I believe that ownership of TV stations, radio stations and newspapers should all be kept separate, especially within any given "market area". Also, a single entity should not be allowed to own more than one network affiliates in a given market, as is the case, I believe, in Jacksonville, Florida. The same for newspapers and radio stations. Information the public receives is biased enough already and allowing single entities to control multiple outlets will only worsen the situation and increase corporate control over the USA. It's high time someone in DC stands up for the principles/ideals that this country was founded on.
